CITY RAILROADS.—This project is now fully before the Common Council, and we trust will be s eedily acted upon. Let us have the best and cheapest roads that can be made permanent, and push them into the Twelfth Ward as fast as possi-ble, so that the crowds in the lower sections of the City may be scattered over that eminently healthy and inviting location.

We have received, from a highly respectable source, a remonstrance against the Report now before the Aldermen. The writer desires to give the largest opportunity for competition instead of granting the permission to build to any specified parties. He also thinks it would be proper to make " a Harlem Road carry passengers to Forty send st. for 3 cents-Yorkville for 5, and Harlem for 4, during the daytime.

BROOKLYN ITEMS

Afflicting.—It is really heart-rending to witness the distress in the family of Capt. John Leeds, who resides at 67 Henry street, in this city, consequent upon the loss of their little boy, one of the most obedient, amiable and affectionate of children. On Friday last, he was ordered to deliver a mes-sage to a friend of the family, only two or three blocks off; since which time no trace can be had of It was about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and it is ascertained the message was fulfilled and he started for home. He is but six years old, and had started for home. He is but six years old, and had never been known to stray from his home, either from inclination or persuasion of other children. As he had never been around the docks, or scarcely out of his mother's sight since he was born, the presumption is that he has been kidnapped. This affliction has brought such distress upon the mother as to derange her intellect, and to throw her upon a sick bed. Neither friends or relatives are allowed to see or converse with her. The boy's name is William Everett Leeds, aged six years, was dressed in dark brown linen pants, plaid gingham jacket (green, brown and white) and black cloth SERIOUS ACCIDENT—Yesterday about 11 o'clock, a man named James Dolphin, a bricklayer, while employed on the gable end of the new church now in course of construction at the corner of Fleet and La Fayette ats. was precipitated from the building and dangerously injured. He had been engaged in laying brick on the front, facing Fleetst when the top of the wallon which he was standing gave way, and he fell to the ground with the crumbling mass of brick and rubbish from a distance of about 35 feet. He was bruised from head to foot, but luckly no bones were broken. It is truly fortunate that he was not instantly killed. He was conveyed to the Hospital in Hudson-avenue, where his case was properly attended to by Dr. Caruthers. The family of the unfortunate man reside in Conklin's alley, at the foot of Jay-st. He is a native of Ireland, and probably about 23 years of age.

THE WAGES OF RIOTING .- James McCluskey The Wages of Riotisc.—James McClaskey, William Cartine, James Ryan and James Connolly made their appearance before Justice John C. Smith, charged with assaulting the members of No. 11 Engine Company, breaking the signal lantern of the engine, and otherwise damaging the machine, as they were returning from a fire on the hight of the 16th, on Flushing av. The accused were with engine No. 1 when they attacked the others, many of whom were severely beaten, and others, many of whom were severely beaten, and otherwise injured, by being struck with brick bats and stones that were thrown at them. Several persons, mostly of whom were boys, for the de-fense, swore that the accused were not there at the time, and that Engine Co. No. 1 were not there at the time, and that Engine Co. No. 1 were first assailed, and that they only stood on the defensive.—
They were all found guilty. McCluskey was sentenced to six months imprisonment in the Penitentary; Cartine to five months and 24 days; Connelly to five months and 15 days, and Ryan to five months. menths.

CHARGE OF GRAND LARCENY .- Information was locged at the watch House on Fauranay last that the stall of Michael Doody, a huckster in the Brook-iyn Market, had been broken open, and provisions, consisting of butter and choose, lard, beef, &c. ta-ken and carried away. Officers Higgins and Pelletreu were sent in search of the goods, and at about 3 o'clock the next morning found them in Washington Market, New York, upon the stand of a man named J. Weils. The same officers also ar-rested Jesse M. Baker and Thomas Henderson, who it was ascertained had obtained the keys of the Market. These men did not deny taking the goods, but said they were authorised by the plaintiff. Justice Smith held them to bail in the sum of $1,000 for their appearance at the examination yes-terday afternoon, when the case was brought up and resulted in the discharge of both defendants. There is no doubt however, said the Justice, that the defendants are guilty of aggravated trespass

An Adrest Thier -On Tuesday evening last, as a gentleman accompanied by two ladies was icisurely wasking along Smith st. a man dressed somewhat like a sailor and pretending to be drunk, jostled against one of the ladies and very admitly nibbed her watch, a fine gold lever, and then walked on ahead of them, staggering from one side of the pavement to the other, until he reached the next corner, when he was lost sight of. The lady became aware of her loss after the party had proceeded about two blocks further, and then dis covered that the chain to which the watch had been appended was cut. No arrest.

Yesterday morning the Coroner, Dr. Ball, held an inquest on the body of a male infant found float-ing in the river in a boat, near Thompson's wharf, by some boys who were playing near the spot. The body appeared to have been in the water a length of time, and was very much decomposed. Verdict-Found drowned.

LAW COURTS.

COURT CALENDAR—This Day.—Common Pleas.—Part I —Nos. 193. 411, 413, 415, 417, 889, 315, 588, 590.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.—Before Judges Ingraham and Woodruff.—Decisions.—Brokers Commissions.—Cole & Chillon, respondents, vs. John Butter, appellant.—Appeal from Judge Cowles, of the Marine Court, who gave judgment in favor of plaintiff for 880 88, being 1 per cent. commissions on 86,000, and $20 88 for advertising. &c. on sale of premises 27 Green-st. Messrs. C. & C. were employed by Mr. Butter, the owner, to sell the property at auction, provided it brought 6,500. There were no offers at that. After the attempt at sale, Messrs. C. & C. said they thought they could get Mr. B. a purchaser at private sale, and he consented they should do so—the limit being $6,250. Mr. B subsequently sold the property himself to Mr. Cropsey at $6,000. On notifying Messrs. C. & C. of the sale, they demanded 1 per cent as if they had sold it, and $20 88 for COURT OF COMMON PLEAS .- Before Judges Infying Messrs. C. & C. of the sale, they demanded 1 per cent as if they had sold it, and $20 88 for advertising and auctioneers' fees for the offer of sale at anction. The latter, Mr. B. was willing to pay, but not the former, and suit was brought. There was some little testimony to show that Mr. Luther called on C. & C. to know the terms, and that he mentioned it to Mr. Cropsey; but Mr. C. in his testimony, said his attention had been attracted by the advertisement at auction; he called at the by the advertisement at auction; he called at the premises, No. 27, was told Mr. Butler, was the owner, went to him and made the agreement to purchase, and if Mr. L. told him, it must have been

Mr. Butler having appealed from the decision of Judge C. this Court held that a broker, in order to be entitled to recover for commissions, must show that he had authority from the principal to sell. Having had such authority the owner cannot take advantage of the labors of the Broker to sell subsequents himself and denrive, the broker of his does so by means not procured by the broker, he affirmed as to $20 88, and reversed as to balance.

Brokerage as to Ships.—Edmund Boroley et al, vs. John D. Simes.—Appeal from Judge Green, let Judicial District, who, in an action for $92 commissions against the owner of the bark St. Mary, being 5 per cent on $1,822 worth of freight for San Francisco and Benecia, California, gave judgment for defendant. Plaintiff contracted with Raphael Schoyer for a certain number of houses, or frames, for California, S. to give B. & Co. the advantage of brokerage on the freight. S. agreed with Mr. Warner, 75 Fulton-st. who had a bill up in his office for freight of the vessel, to take the said freight, and it was put on board. B. & Co. demurred, and sued freight of the vessel, to take the said freight, and it was put on board. B. & Co. demurred, and sued the owner of the vessel for commission as above stated, alleging that Mr. Warner had promised it, and that the owner was bound by what Mr. W. said, and his receiving the goods on board was proof that Mr. W. was his agent.

The Court held that there was no proof that the owner employed Mr. Warner, but even if he did, a broker so employed is not at liberty to employ others and charge the owner, except by assent or effer a poroval. If a broker chooses to emply others.

John Doggett, Jr. vs. John Locks-Appeal from Judge Green, who, on a suit for $28 for half a year's advertising of Portable Baths in The Railroad Guide and Register gave judgment for defendant. It appeared that a young man named Copeland got Mr. L to agree to advertise for a year at the got Mr. L. to agree to advertise to that effect. In above's rate and to sign a paper to that effect. In defense it was said that the young man represented that the young man represented, and there would be at least 30,000 copies printed, and perhaps it would go up to 70,000, and it was understood there would be different editions, with the changes that took place, during the year. It was also shown that in the previous year but 5,000 copies were printed, but there were different editions.— Mr. Doggett, is his testimony, stated that Copeland was unauthorized to say what he did—that the demand however, was greater than he could supply, and that he was about to publish a second edition when he became sick.

The property was taken by officer Parker, and conveyed to Spruce st. The Jury, from the proof, which, however, was contradictory, considered that the barrels had been injured after being in posses-

This Court held that it was a mere question of fact on which the circumstances do not call upon them to interfere. There was nothing to show that there was any injury to the barrels till after they were taken by the officer, and the evidence shows the defendant handled them in such a manner as the acientan and the contents were found to cause them to leak, and that 25 days thereafter they were sold, when the contents were found to be spoiled. Judgment affirmed, with costs.

He had a partner named Howard, now in California, who took the picture to C. & S.s, who also keep in the Bowery. On its being demanded Mr. C. refused to give it up, saving it belonged to Mr. Smith. Plaintiff offered evidence by persons accustomed to seeing pictures sold, as to its value. This Court held that Judge Van C. erred in excluding the evidence offered of the value of the picture. That is not a case where none but experts can be admitted to testify, and if the evidence was wrong, defendants who had the picture in possession, could have rebutted it. He also erred in granting the nonsuit, plaintiff showed the picture bad ing the nonsuit, plaintiff showed the picture had belonged to him, and that it was afterwards seen defendant's possession. Judgment reversed with costs.

Wm. S. Camp, respondent, vs. Jas. V. Tibbets, appellant—Appeal from Judge Lynch of Marine Court, who granted attachments against the stock court, who granted attachments against the stock court.

Court, who granted attachments against the stock of Mr. T. on affidavit as an absconding or fraudulent debtor, on two notes on 680 and 875, and on which be afterwards gave judgment. The affidavit was made by R. H. Towner, on behalf of Mr. C. who resides in Connecticut, upon information and belief, &c. Mr. Tibbets kept a stove store at 113 Beckman st. On mation before Judge 1, to waste the attachment be denied the charge L to vacate the attachment he denied the charge as to being absconding or fraudulent. He stated that he was absent from the city but five or six days, leaving his business and men as usual—that his absence was caused by his brother having died at Brooklyn—his father and mother who lived at Wells, Me. were desirous that the remains should Wells, Me. were dearross that the remains should be brought there; he started with them on 2d Jan. attended the funeral at Wells and retuined on the 8th, when he ascertained that the attachments as an absconding debtor had been issued during his absence and about $1,000 worth of property taken from his store by the officer in satisfaction of them, his credit futally injured in consequence, and he his credit fatally injured in consequence, and he was compelled to make an assignment. Affidavita were also presented pro and con, to show that there was ground for the measure, and the reverse and that the property taken was worth but $500.

Judge L. refused to vacate the attachments, (which were short returnable in two days,) but required plaintiff, on trial, to show that Mr. T. was a non-resident. On this point it was shown that he was a single man, that he caused, it was said, his name to be inserted in the Directory as his house. name to be inserted in the Directory as his house being at Albany, and on taking lodgings on one oc-casion, entered his name on the books J. V. T., Troy—also, that no information as to where he had gone could be obtained at his store.

This Court held that there was nothing in the affidavit which could give the Marine Court jurisdiction, and that the affidavit of a third party, on infortion, and that the allidavit of a third party, on infor-mation and belief, and without showing any act of fraudulent intention, is not the affidavit required by the law. [The attachment was grounded on Sect. 34, Ch. 300, Law of 1831.] The view of the Court is sustained by Dewey cs. Green, 4 Denio, 93; and the Court is inclined to agree with the opinion of Judge B., Taylor vs. Heath, 4 Denio, 593, in regard to proving non-residence before an attachment could issue under 33d Sect. of the Act, but that point is not now necessary. Judgment in both cases reversed, with costs.

Clairveyance in Shetland.

While seeking amusement the other week in observing the curious phenomena in cairveyance, which was so far successful as to induce a second; and reading in your valuable paper of the 24th ult a very interesting narrative of like exporiments, we were induced to make a third trial. In each case additional circumstances were described and the former ones repeated, varying only in such respects as corroborated previous statements. Thus, on the 22d ult. the clairveyance, (and to whom the developments have not as yet been narrated.) the developments have not as yet been narrated, stated in referrence to the Terror, that Sir John Franklin expected to get out in a fortnight; on the 27th ult., that he expected to get clear in better than a week; and on the 31st ult., that his hopes would be realized in two or three days. Without would be realized in two or three days. Without entering into minute circumstances, or venturing any remarks upon the phenomena, we may briefly narrate the following circumstances as described by the clairvoyante during our third experiment of the 31st ult, in the presence of mine individuals of the highest respectability. After replying to a few general questions, the clairvoyante was desired to go porthwards and see if there were any vessels the ice. He immediately discovered one, and ing requested to find out the name, he delibe-tely spelled the word Terror, and then remarked that the field of fee in which it was bound up had partially broken at some distance from the vessel, and that they had succeeded in making a little prothree sails being bent to the yard and stowed; whereas, on the occasion of our second experiment, whereas, on the occasion of our second experiment, he described the men as occupied below in repair-ing the sails. The Captain was walking the deck in company with two officers, he and the taller one disagreeing with the other as to the possibilities of getting out in a few days, which the latter officer seemed to doubt. The crew were receiving an seemed to doubt. The crew were receiving an additional allowance of provisions in prospect of their release. The Captain looked very careworn Upon being desired to seek one of the officers, he stated that he was diseased, that about forty in al had died, and many more were ill with sores their bodies, &c. When requested to search another officer named, he described the sitting below with a sore leg and foot, which was bare and discolored. Upon being desired to describe the localities, he said that the ship was opposite the localities of form. Fury Beach. We another officer named, he described the person as scribe the localities, he said that the ship was oppo-site, but some distance from, Fury Beach. We then requested him to look round from North to South to see if there were any other vessel in the ice, upon which he began to describe one as lying South west of the Terror, and said they were such a distance apart that they could not see each other, and had no communication. We requested him to reall the name, and though he could not see it so disand had no communication. We requested him to tell the name, and though he could not see it so distinctly as in the other case, on account of the ves-sellying over in the ice, he succeeded eventually in spelling the word Erebus. He immediately found the Captain, and said he looked very unwell and downcast, having a bandage round his face. and downcast, having a bandage round his face.—
The crew were dissatisfied, and a party of them had left the ship in search of land. The clairvoyante followed, and found them at a considerable distance seated together on the ice. They had abandoned their purpose, and were endeavoring to return to the ship. Two of the party were weak, and seemed unable to proceed, but the others were unwilling to abandon them. They had some provisions, and were getting wild fowl. The vessel appeared a considerable way from Fury Beach.—
Ucon being asked if he saw any vessels coming appeared a considerable way from Fary Desch.
Upon being asked if he saw any vessois coming in the direction of the Terror and Erebus, he rephed that he saw several, mentioning a large vessel, upon which he was desired to go on board and leard the name, which he spelled with ease as Lady Franklin after which be mentioned a tew unimportant circumstances; such as, the Captain was portant circumstances; such as, the Captain was talking to the steersman, the first mate was saleep, &c. With this we ceased our inquiries regarding this deeply interesting subject, and must have time to determine the character of these experiments and the fate of the Arctic expedition.
